Fierce competition across the land and water to crown which team wins the ultimate bragging rights

If hands-on competition is what you're looking for, this active afternoon of fun is for you.

A combination of Combat Archery, Giant Paddleboarding, Katanuig, Sumo Wrestling as well as some Logic Challenges to solve, make In It To Win It a competitive and fun challenge!

For teams who are looking for something which will guarantee to bring out the best in some, worst in others and have your team laughing together as they all fall of a Giant Paddleboard or finally get to shoot their colleague with an arrow, then look no further.

It's all about head-to-head challenges in this knock out competition!

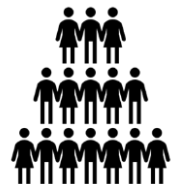

Giant inflatables, arrows you can shoot at each other and Sumo Wrestling suits; let the competition begin!

Teams will compete against each other to win each competition. Throughout the event there will be a series of challenges; but remember it's not always about being fast and furious, sometimes you'll need tactics and team players to be the last team standing!

A great day for your team to breakdown barriers, work together and enjoy some team fun out of the office.

We may not have Greg Davis's wit, or Alex Horne's warped genius but our instructors have created some wacky challenges which will certainly get your team riled up and desperate to win!

Min: 10
Max: 100

This day will encourage team collaboration to the extreme as they work together to complete tasks like the Human Buzz Wire, Towers of Hanoi or Team Elevation.

No two Task Askers are ever the same so we can't wait to see what your team will bring to the table.

Based on the famous 70's quiz show, teams will use their general knowledge, mental prowess and physical attributes to win the Kryptonite

Battle it in small teams to conquer the challenges laid out in front of you and complete the Krypton Factor!

A mixture of logic tasks to solve, questions to test your common sense or quiz style knowledge and physical challenges which can only be completed with the perfect team solidarity.

This is a great event for those teams who don't want to be too physical but still love some fierce competition.

Start by thinking outside the box, win challenges to gain resources and end as captain of your own raft

This day is the perfect balance between teamwork and fun.

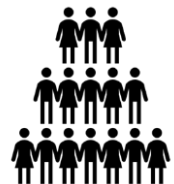

It's a race against time for groups to complete as many challenges as possible to earn more resources than their rivals.

With the resources earnt, you'll build your team a raft. When the whistle blows its time for all teams to board their raft and set sail on their mission to capture the flag.

A guaranteed belly laugh, this event also works great if you've got some team members who are hesitant of the water as they will still be able to partake in most of the day.

There's nothing which says Scottish celebration more than Highland Games!

Are you ready to wang a wellie? Toss a caber? Hurl a haggis? Aim an axe?

Our version of the Highland Games is all about having a fun time with friends and family, although don't be deceived, we've seen friendships shred to tatters as the competition ignites.

Teams will test themselves with series of classic challenges, some as a team and some individually. The points will then be added up to crown which team are the 'buannaiche'.

The winning team will be rewarded with a bottle of local, Scottish bubbly
