Get down and dirty in this all-out competition to knock out your competitors and crown your team the ultimate winners

Giant inflatables, arrows you can shoot at each other and sumo wrestling suits; let the competition begin!

Teams will compete against each other to win each competition. Throughout the event there will be a series of challenges; but remember it's not always about being fast and furious, sometimes you'll need tactics and team players to be the last team standing!

A great day for your friends and family to let their hair down, have a lot of laughs and do something entirely different.

Cameras at the ready!

There's nothing which says Scottish celebration more than Highland Games!

Are you ready to wang a wellie? Toss a caber? Hurl a haggis? Aim an axe?

Our version of the Highland Games is all about having a fun time with friends and family, although don't be deceived, we've seen friendships shred to tatters as the competition ignites.

Teams will test themselves with series of classic challenges, some as a team and some individually. The points will then be added up to crown which team are the 'buannaiche'.

The winning team will be rewarded with a bottle of local, Scottish bubbly

Based on the famous 70's quiz show, teams will use their general knowledge, mental prowess and physical attributes to win the Kryptonite

Battle it in small teams to conquer the challenges laid out in front of you and complete the Krypton Factor!

A mixture of logic tasks to solve, questions to test your common sense or quiz style knowledge and physical challenges which can only be completed with team cunningness such as the human buzz wire, memory challenge, archery and tangram.

This is a great event for groups who don't want to be too physical but still love some fierce competition.

Inspired by the TV show Taskmaster this event will have your team doing the weird and wonderful

We may not have Greg Davis's wit, or Alex Horne's warped genius but our instructors have created some wacky challenges which will certainly get your friends riled up and desperate to win!

This day will encourage team collaboration to the extreme as you work together to complete tasks like the Human Buzz Wire, Towers of Hanoi or Team Elevation.

No two Task Askers are ever the same so we can't wait to see what your friends and family will bring to the table.

Start by thinking outside the box, win challenges to gain resources and end as captain of your own raft

This day is the perfect balance between teamwork and fun.

It's a race against time for groups to complete as many challenges as possible to earn more resources than their rivals.

With the resources earnt, you'll build your team a raft. When the whistle blows its time for all teams to board their raft and set sail on their mission to capture the flag.

A guaranteed belly laugh, this event also works great if you've got some team members who are hesitant of the water as they will still be able to partake in most of the day.
